We spent a few days in Denver in June at INATS (International New Age Trade Show) and COVR Awards banquet. We really enjoyed hanging out with the folks from Music Design and other musicians. Here is a photo album: PHOTOS

A friend of ours has arranged a 2002 "CD Signing Event" at the Wellness Expo February 27-28 from 11:00 am-6:00 pm.

<http://eventzi.com/wellnessexpo2010fortworth>

It will be at the Will Rogers Memorial Center at 1579 Gendy St. in Fort Worth, Texas. This show is in its 15th year and will feature things like: chiropractors, massage therapy, natural foods and herbs, crystals and jewelry, reflexology, acupuncture and yoga. There are also some interesting lectures lined up, such as "Healing With Sound".

Our friend felt that our music would be an appropriate addition to an event centered around the healing arts. Here is the program guide for the show:

<http://www.2002music.com/WellnessExpoProgram0210.pdf>

So come out and chat with us. Bring a camera and we'll get some photos together. If you have any CD's you want signed, bring them along. We'll have CD's available there as well in case you need to finish out your collection.

Here is a coupon worth $2 off of the show admission (normally $7). <http://www.2002music.com/WellnessExpo-lg-flyer.pdf>

We hope to see you there!

New video - This song and video by 2002 depict the great supernova of July 4, 1054 A.D., the remnants of which became the famous Crab Nebula. What must the civilizations of that time thought and felt when they saw this great star suddenly appear in the sky, visible even in broad daylight for 23 days? This is the video as it appears on the DVD/CD set "A Word in the Wind" by 2002.

This is the video we were working on just before my karate accident. We lost a few months. It's been a long recovery! And the video is so late because of it. But here it is at last!!! I hope you'll enjoy it.

Hurray! I picked the CDs up yesterday. I know that digital downloads are the way of the future, but I still love the feel of a REAL book or CD in my hands. I know - old fashioned. 😊

I also really enjoyed working with the fabulous artist in Sweden, Cindy Grundsten. Isn't it wonderful the way the Internet has made it possible to collaborate with people on opposite sides of the planet?

And I personally still enjoy creating and laying out CD booklets and trayliners in PhotoShop and InDesign. So even though digital downloads are really cool, I hope physical CDs (or some similar media) never go away! Visit our website to hear samples of the new CD! www.2002music.com

It's official. And it will be at the manufacturing plant Friday. (Gee, I feel like I am sending out a birth announcement!) This one is very symbolic for us. Those of you that have befriended us over all these years will certainly understand.

This is one of the smoothest and most soothing albums ever composed by 2002. We even "beta-tested" it with our massage therapist. And it's over an hour long.

It's been a tumultuous year for us, and we really needed a quiet place to escape to. I hope this will do that for you. It sure does for me. I am re-learning how to walk for Heaven's sake. I needed this music. It's helping me. We hope it helps you too. This one's for you.

Randy is mixing the sixth song on a new 2002 album. Yay!! It's super-mellow and I am personally loving listening to it. I blew up my knee in karate and am on crutches for an undetermined period of time so I think I needed something really soothing.

We were interviewed by a reporter for Flamesky in China. He came out to the studio last month. It was fascinating comparing cultures and sharing ideas. He told me that the Chinese believe very much in coming full-circle. Creating a really soft album was the natural thing for 2002 to do. His exact words were "everything ends with a beginning." I love that.

(Of course, if I ever get off these crutches I'll be ready for something toe-tapping...)
